Put Out of Saldon, Wauregan Man Smashes Window-Fury of the Gale -Evening Session of Court.

A man named Goyette, whose home is thought to be in either Wauregan or Danielson, got himself into trouble Wednesday afternoon. He was making a fuss in Peter Duquette's saloon on High street and the proprietor thought it was best to get rid of him, so he put him out or the place. Goyette became angry and, going to a nearby heap of stones, calmly selected a nice large one and coming back threw the missile with great force at a large window in the front of the saloon. He smashed two panes of glass. Mr. Duquette promptly had the offender arrested.
